Ticket to Be Presented at the L. A. W. National Assembly.

Complete List of Candidates for Yale Crews.

The L. A. W. ticket to be presented for election at the National Assembly meeting next month, which is headed by Chief Consul Lumb, of this State, is completed. It will be as follows: President, Charles A. Lumb, of New York; First Vice-President, A. C. Williams, of Maryland; Second Vice-President, G. A. Perkins, of Massachusetts; Treasurer, A. E. Mergenthaler, of Ohio. This ticket is thought to be sufficiently strong to beat any Illinois or any other combination which may be put up. It has New England, New York, Ohio and the South behind it. Consequently will have a first rate chance of being successful.

The Illinois contingent, it is said, is strongly in favor of a paid presiding officer, while the Lumb-Morgan combination will oppose the proposition giving the President a salary of $2,000 a year. Perkins says that if his ticket is elected it will be elected without a single promise of deal.

The proposed new rules for the classification of "makers" and "makers' assistants," are out at last and known now just what a class a man must become to become a "maker" and what a class a "maker's assistant" must become to become a "maker's assistant." The principal difference between A and B seems to be in the class.

In class A no prize shall exceed $50 in value, and such prizes shall be limited to medals, trophies, glass, jewelry and such sundries only.

Not can the class A man ride for a wheel concern and have his expenses paid, as can the class B man. The supporters of this scheme are confident it will become a law. They say all bicyclists will be glad to know if it doesn't, which is very probably true.

Following is a complete list of the candidates for the various Yale crews now in training:

First crew—A. P. Rogers, '94, stroke; R. B. Farnham, '96, 7; W. H. Cross, '96, 6; A. Brown, '96, 5; J. M. Loomer, '95, 4; J. H. Knapp, '96, 3; J. H. Loomer, '95, 2; and W. M. Head, '96, 1.

Second crew—W. D. Smith, '96, stroke; G. P. Farnham, '96, 7; E. C. Leonard, '97, 6; P. Thayer, '96, 5; J. A. Johnson, '94, 4; A. W. Dyer, '95, 3; A. Price, '96, 2; T. S. Kinner, '96, 1; and W. D. Smith, '96, 1.

The candidates for the Yale Freshman crew are: E. Hill, '97, stroke; E. C. Leonard, '97, 6; P. Thayer, '96, 5; J. A. Johnson, '94, 4; A. W. Dyer, '95, 3; A. Price, '96, 2; T. S. Kinner, '96, 1; and W. D. Smith, '96, 1.

The election of J. C. Wiggins as captain of the Harvard Baseball Club has been confirmed by the Athletic Committee. In connection with the matter the Committee took occasion to express disapproval of ordinarily electing graduates.

State captains. It was necessary in this case, however, as there was no one else who could fill the bill. Cook having resigned. But the most interesting point in connection with the election of captains is the fact that the election was held in a public hall at Harvard. It is considered to mean that voters will not be restricted to the election of their own men and that the election will be a free one. Perkins and Brewer are the most likely candidates.

Some interesting news comes from Jacksonville this morning which has to do with newspaper correspondents. There are at least a hundred of them in the town, and the local A. C. people are considering the advisability of levying a tax on them—say $25 a head. This would be somewhat of a new departure, and would be very likely to provoke some unfavorable criticism, but it is thought the Club doesn't expect to have any more pugilistic contests, and it wants to make as much hay as possible while the sun shines.

Bob Fitzsimmons has been heard from again. Fitz says that he will be on deck again in a few weeks and he is ready to do some fighting. "I am waiting to learn the outcome of the Mitchell-Corbett fight," observes the lanky pugilist. "I will try my utmost to get on a match with the winner. If I don't succeed, I will then take on Corbett. As to whom I think will win, I must say I fancy Corbett. He has all the natural advantages in his favor. It might be a very short fight. Corbett will try to knock Corbett out, but before he can do so Corbett will punch his face into ribbons."

A Chicago despatch says: "Henry Schmehl, the veteran pestiferous, is making every effort to get on a race with Edward Payson Weston, who recently announced his intention of racing from New York to Albany. Hearing that Weston's most intimate friends were in Chicago, Schmehl's backers, last night sent the following telegram to a local newspaper man in the South: 'Will back Henry Schmehl for $5,000 against Edward Payson Weston, six days' race from Chicago to Jacksonville, Fla. Chicago investigation will be made. Both West and Schmehl, who are now confined to their beds, have been suspended.'

Jim Rooney, of the Star A. C., is said to be the latest candidate for the position of Secretary of the Metropolitan Association. The matter will be decided at the Association meeting at the Astor House to-night. The impression is gaining ground that the best thing the Association could do would be to combine the office of Secretary and President for a while, and elect James E. Sullivan to both positions.

"Sparrow" Robertson received a letter from Red Bank yesterday, informing that Joe, Jim and Tim Donoghue had entered in all the races there. Nothing but a wide berth of 100 yards is expected in the city at any time.

A friend of Amos Rusdie, who has just made the "Herald" a visit, says he is twenty pounds lighter than when he finished last season. Amos has settled down and has been buying Indianapolis real estate this winter.

Frank lives says in answer to Sloan's challenge for a series of games, cushion caroms and ball line, that as soon as Sloan posts a forfeit the challenge will be considered.

The Falcon Gun Club, the wealthiest organization of its kind in Brooklyn, had its monthly shoot yesterday afternoon in Deater Park. Five men contested at the trap, ten live birds each. Chris Meyer did the best shooting, killing all his birds.

At Norfolk, Va., yesterday. Near Appomattox, the well-known local shot, defeated Charles Smith of Plainfield, N. J., killing 32 birds out of 50, 10 for Smith.

The great annual international football match between the picked Rugby representing England and Wales was played at Birkenhead Park, Jan. 6, and won by five goals to one try.

Boston wants the next annual L. A. W. race meet.

Negotiations are pending for a six-round bout between George Godfrey and Alex. Greckains, to occur next month in Boston.

Y. M. C. A. MEN IN A FIGHT.

Three Rounds Fought With Bare Knuckles in a Gymnasium.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—At the Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium, at Ravenswood, one of Chicago's prettiest suburbs, last night the golden rule gave place to the Marquis of Queensberry rules for three rounds with bare knuckles.

The fight began as the result of a quarrel, and the pugilists were Harry Wendt and Robert Paul, both of whom are members of the Association. The young men became involved in a dispute over the scoring, and when one called out to form a ring the two men stepped, "time" was called, and the two men went at it in the third round. Wendt was knocked out by a blow in the stomach.

QUEER ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE.

Deserted Wife Strikes Her Head Against a Chicago Water Plug.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—The police found a young woman attempting to kill herself last night by striking her head against a water plug at Thorpe and Madison streets. She gave her name as Mrs. S. Dodge, and said she came from Horrellville, N. Y. Her former name was Mrs. Jennie Miller. Five months ago she married Dodge, who is an engineer. She came to Chicago shortly afterwards. Her husband failed to secure work, and a few weeks ago deserted her. She was left destitute and unacquainted with any one in the city. As a last resort she concluded to kill herself. The police are looking for Dodge.

Mother and Child Fatally Burned.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 20.—An overboard lamp started a fire at 117 Eighth street last night, and Mrs. Louis Lacombe and her two-year-old child were burned to death by the flames.

DRUGGED, BUNCOED, MOBBED.

Henry Isander, of St. Louis, Has a Lively Experience.

Has $20 Left of the $500 Brought With Him for Green Goods.

Henry Isander, a well-to-do fish merchant of St. Louis, was a picture of misery as he stood in front of the bar at the Tombs Police Court this morning.

Isander had a career that was a most startling series of adventures. He had encountered a gang of crooked gamblers and been swindled out of nearly $500, had been drugged and beaten, and, to cap the climax, had been arrested and locked up in a cell all night on the charge of drunkenness.

It was at 1 o'clock this morning that Policeman Robinson, of the Elizabeth street station, heard cries for help at the corner of Howard and Elm streets. Rushing to the scene, the policeman found Isander, who is an under-sized, gray-haired man, fifty years old, struggling with several other men.

HACKMAN'S NARROW ESCAPE

Connors Was Tangled in the Reins of His Runaway Team.

John Connors, hackman, should attach a tablet to post 183 of the Manhattan Elevated Railway Company's structure in Chatham Square. The post demolished his back early this morning and badly injured one of his weary gray steeds, but it probably saved the hackman's life.

Connors' hack was standing just outside the Kingston House at the lower end of the Bowery at 10 o'clock this morning. The driver was standing on the platform, and the horses were backing. The animals took fright at something, and as the reins were dangling about the driver's head, he was thrown into the air. He fell head first, and the reins were caught in the wheels of the hack. Connors was pinned to the ground, and the horses ran on for some time before he was rescued.

POINTS ON THE COMING FIGHT

Sporting Men Tell Why They Will Bet on Corbett or Mitchell.

As the time for the Corbett-Mitchell fight draws near the excitement increases, and the sporting world will be vastly interested in a series of interviews which will appear in The Sunday World.

The fish had been brought from Booth Bay on two schooners.

Fish Inspector John A. Moran, of the Health Department, this morning condemned twenty-five tons of herring on the schooner T. P. Dixon. Both were from Booth Bay, Me., where the herring had been in cold storage nearly three months. These are among the biggest consignments of spoiled fish ever sent to the makers of fertilizers on Barren Island, and fishermen say the loss is due to the warm winter.

The Vought is commanded by Capt. Vought, and the Dixon by Capt. Dixon. The former arrived at the foot of Brooklyn street, East River, three weeks ago yesterday with about fifty tons of herring. The fish had been frozen in a cold storage house, and it was expected that they would remain so until sold. They were, however, found to be in a very bad state of preservation.

The Dixon arrived a week later with about fifty tons on board. The cargo was consigned to John A. Moran. Inspector Moran said this morning that as each schooner arrived he watched it closely, and he does not believe proper care was taken when the hatches were opened to remove the fish. He says that he has seen the fish in a very bad state of preservation, and he has seen the fish in a very bad state of preservation.

Several men who have boxed with both Corbett and Mitchell give interesting facts. Many men with sporting blood who expect to bet on the result ought to be possessed of the information that these men contribute.

FRIEND OF TWEED AND GENET

Most of Harlem Was Built With John E. Wilson's Brick.

The body of John E. Wilson, who fainted yesterday afternoon at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and Third avenue and died soon afterwards in the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street station-house, is at Leon's undertaking establishment, one Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and Fourth avenue. Wilson was at that time one of the most prominent bricklayers in the city. He was a close friend of Tweed and Genet. Harlem was, for the most part, built with materials from his yard. In the year of 1873 his fortune was swept away. Lately he was an Inspector of Public Works, and was sent to Lexington avenue, apart from his family.

PILOT BOAT LOUBT PLANTED.

A depot at Free Island says that the pilot boat Joseph P. Loubt, which went ashore near Amagansett, was hoisted off this morning.

Connors was pinned to the ground, and the horses ran on for some time before he was rescued. Connors was pinned to the ground, and the horses ran on for some time before he was rescued.

USUAL SHAM BATTLES.

The Morning Republican Club has approved the Republican reorganization plan, and passed a resolution to support the plan. The plan is to create a new party, and to set up new houses for their own organization.

STEAMER HORROR BRINGS LITTLE NEWS

The Lamport & Holt steam ship Horror arrived this morning, having sailed from Rio de Janeiro Dec. 29. Capt. Cadogan states that he was in port for thirteen days, and went ashore only a few times during his stay in port.

The usual desultory firing between the forts and the fleet was of daily occurrence. He knew but little as to the actual condition of things on shore, and heard nothing as to the feeling among the merchants or citizens as to the final result of the conflict.

CHICAGO BOOM FOR HILL.

Plan to Nominates the New York Senator for President.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—A call will be published to-day for a meeting at which will be organized the Senator Hill Democratic Association of Chicago. The organization of the Association will commence, it is said, a mighty movement to secure for David B. Hill the Presidential nomination as Grover Cleveland's successor.

It is said by persons interested that already over 1,000 Chicago Democrats, more or less prominent, have agreed to assist in the movement. Hill is an old local politician, is greatly interested in the Hill boom.

The movement has been quietly agitated since the last Presidential election, says Mr. Keough. "We intend to put Hill in the White House, and we intend to put Hill in the White House."

"The movement will also be an effort to elect Hill to the White House, and we intend to put Hill in the White House."

Another Alleged Burglar Caught.

Joseph Blumington, twenty-two years old, of 211 Avenue B, was held for examination in the Bow Market Court today. He is accused of being one of the burglars who entered Jacoby's room at Ninth street and Avenue C, and carried away a quantity of jewelry and other valuables.

As Will took in these details his eyes rested upon Daisy. "It is a very sweet picture in the room," he said, "but I don't like it. It is a very sweet picture in the room, but I don't like it."

"Papa waited until a few minutes ago for you, and instructed me to keep you if you came until his return. You can see him at the club, if you care to go there, but I am quite alone and will be very pleased not to have to wait alone."

"Well, Miss Garland, if I won't interrupt you reading, for I see you have been quite studious by the book you carry, I will wait for Mr. Garland here."

As Will followed his hostess in he could hardly conceal his surprise at the beauty of the drawing-room. The walls were hung in the palest rose color. Great lounging chairs and tiny gilt ones stood around in an inviting way. The table was covered with magazines, and a handsome bookcase was well filled with the choicest literature. Everywhere was the evidence of refined taste.
